Westside, which was somewhat disappointing in its first tests and had been running about 125 barrels of crude oil daily, is expected to settle down to a steady production of 600 to 700 barrels a day. Westside is in L.S.D. 3 of section 21-10-25 W. 4.

This information was received Wednesday by S. H. Ross manager of the Edmonton office of South of S. H. Ross Oil Co.

Imperial Parley Finds Freer World Trade Necessity For Future

LONDON, June 9.—While the Imperial Conference was undoubtedly experiencing heavier going since details of the United States case for reduced tariffs in the British market has been made known to the delegates, there has been no weakening of support generally for the broad principle of freer world trade which the delegates are attending the conference here is the solution to much of the present unrest and economic distress.

Details have not been published officially as yet, but it is reliably learned that the delegates considered by the delegates from the earlier forecasts that the United States would demand a limitation on preference in the British market to two items, lumber and fruit, dried and canned.

Otherwise if Washington's desires are fully met by the British government, exports from the dominions will be hampered to some extent, while wheat and wheat flour and wheat bran are not affected at all, but butter and fruit preserved are difficult to Canada, South Africa and Australia.

TUNBERY, Scotland, June 9.—Mrs. A. M. Holm, former British women's golf champion, defeated Fam Barton, defending champion, in a three-hole playoff on the 18th hole.

The stocky British champion could not produce championship strokes against the tall, slim Scotswoman from the Aspire club. Mrs. Holm, following Mrs. Barton after the match, told her: "You were a very good player, but you were not a champion."

Mrs. Barton answered, kissing her opponent: "But your 35 out was not a match."

For 13 holes Mrs. Holm shot one over four and needed only 25 points. Any chance Mrs. Barton might have had of overtaking her was lost.

ECLIPSE IS SEEN UNDER PERFECT CONDITIONS

Scientists Overjoyed at Results of Many Long Expeditions

LIMA, Peru, June 8.—From an airplane nearly five miles up, from Alaska, Alaska, and the remote stations of the expedition, scientists observed and recorded the total eclipse of the sun under almost perfect conditions.

The reports of success came from United States, Japanese and Mexican scholars who had chosen the one small continental area from which the longest solar eclipse in more than 1,200 years could be seen in totality.

NEAR SUNDOWN

They saw it near sundown, totality beginning at 6:21 p.m., E.D.T., when the sun was eight to 10 degrees above the horizon.

Major Albert W. Stevens, U.S. army aviator observing for the American Museum of Natural History, reported by radio he had reached a height of 25,000 feet, kept plane in the path of totality about 3½ minutes and had achieved "splendid results in wonderful visibility."

He was then still in his airplane, Stella Silva, flying back to Lima. Major Stevens said his four cameras functioned well and recorded 1½ minutes and still pictures of the sun's corona and of the approaching and departing shadow. During totality he was flying above the Pacific ocean between Trullage and Chimbote.

INDIANS SCARED

Reports from mountain stations said as soon as the sun emerged from the moon's shadow Indians, frightened as the darkness grew, rang church bells and piped on their primitive flutes, tunes that had come down from the times of the Incas.

Members of the American Museum expedition, which set up its instruments in the courtyard of an ancient adobe church at Lima, reported mountain Indians flocking there in increasing numbers as time for the eclipse approached. Many were obviously afraid the sun would go out forever.

Major Stevens' greatest hope was he would be able to capture in motion pictures the swift passage of the moon's shadow, 133 miles wide, rolling in from the Pacific ocean.

GOOD PICTURES

The opportunity was unusual and Major Stevens reported he obtained good pictures of this phase of the eclipse, which he described as "rainbow colors blending into blue and black."

At totality, temperature at his 25,000-foot height was four degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

Rare Pictures

Reward Scientists

WASHINGTON, June 8.—United States scientists, camped in the mid-Pacific on a blistering desert site of coral and sand, promised to reward a rare photographic record of Tuesday's total eclipse of the sun.

Following the activity on Canton Island, through broadcasts from the joint United States Navy-National Geographic Society expedition, colleagues in Washington expressed claim their brothers had preserved for posterity a page a significant record of the longest total eclipse since 1890 years.

GREAT INTEREST

After the three-minute and 32-second period of totality ended at Canton Island at approximately 2:19 p.m. C.D.T., Dr. John Oliver Le Conte, vice president of the Geographic Society, arose from a circle of scientists huddled in headquarters here to announce:

"Astronomers throughout the world will await the results of this record with the greatest interest."

From the little equatorial island, 5,000 miles off the North American mainland, came this word from the expedition: "We are happy as clams."

What made them happy, they radioed, was unexcelled weather which permitted them to photograph, under exceptional conditions, the sun's corona, a strange pearly fringe of light shooting millions of miles outward from the sun.

Hundreds of miles to the east of them, in a hazy area, the eclipse reached its maximum totality of seven minutes and four seconds.

The discomfited husband, still wandering about, looking for his wife, finally was reunited with her and they departed homeward, arm in arm.

DIANA BATTYE IS FOUND NEAR ASQUITH HOME

Girl, Giving, Could Not Give Coherent Account Of Self

LONDON, June 8.—Diana Battye was found sobbing early today on a doorstep next door to the home of her fiancé, Michael Asquith, a week after a disappearance, which mystified Scotland Yard.

The former photographer's model, called "Didi" by her family, apparently was ill and was taken to the Asquith home.

Although she was not incoherent, a friend of the family said, "she was not able to give an account of what had happened to her."

ON DOORSTEP

She was found on the doorstep when the occupant of the residence returned home.

Doctors, Mrs. Leonard Hackett, the girl's mother, and Asquith's mother, were summoned. Asquith, son of Hon. H. H. and Lady Cynthia Asquith, is a grandson of the late first Earl of Oxford and Asquith, former prime minister.

The 21-year-old girl suffered a previous loss of memory following a fall from a horse. Physicians forbade her to ride, but when her health returned to normal she resumed her equestrian activities.

MAX LETTERS

Miss Battye's mother, Mrs. Leonard Hackett of Hildesheim, Berkshire, was inclined to believe threatening letters received recently by the young woman and by her fiancé were a hoax.

Police were seeking identity of the assailant who on the evening of the disappearance, Miss Battye's fiancé was with a motor and tied before he could be apprehended.

TORONTO, June 8.—Reversing his former stand, Abe Orren, elderly race track owner, today announced he would identify the three men who robbed him of $1,000 if police brought them before him. He said he still would like to furnish information to aid in their arrest.

Previously he stated he would not identify the thugs though they were caught.

"I am a private citizen," the 63-year-old sportsman said. "I'm not a policeman and I don't intend to go out hunting for them. I took the leader's face in my hands and checked it bit by bit. I guess I couldn't help but know him if I saw him again."

IMPERIAL OIL RECORD BOOK ON ROAD TEST

More and more car manufacturers are recommending lighter grades of oil for use in their new car models, and the reason for this trend is explained in the record book used by participants in the Imperial road test now in progress all over Canada.

Motorists probably believe that lighter oil is better, but they are not aware of the fact that lighter oil is required to reach the bearing surfaces quickly in the hot many motorists have been reluctant to use lighter grades than S.A.E. 40 or 50 in the summer or S.A.E. 20 in the winter, fearing that increased consumption would increase operating costs. Figures given in this connection prove that lighter oil does not increase operating costs, but on the contrary may even decrease them slightly.

The explanation lies in the fact that lighter oil is required to reach the bearing surfaces quickly in the hot many motorists have been reluctant to use lighter grades than S.A.E. 40 or 50 in the summer or S.A.E. 20 in the winter, fearing that increased consumption would increase operating costs. Figures given in this connection prove that lighter oil does not increase operating costs, but on the contrary may even decrease them slightly.

Another section of the record book deals with the influence of the grade of oil upon quick starting. As a result of constant advertising most motorists probably believe that this much-desired quality depends entirely upon the quality of the gasoline and the battery in their car. It is a fact, however, that the grade of oil plays as great a part as either of these other two factors, and in winter it is even more important. The drag which heavy oil imposes upon engine parts is considerable, and when the oil is partly congealed by low temperature no battery or gasoline made can be expected to turn over the cold engine. At 10 degrees F. for instance, the torque (number of foot pounds) available to turn over a 2½-ton engine from a cold battery is 69. Giving a 10 W. oil, a torque of only 22 is required.

Even in winter, within the safety margin. But using an S.A.E. 30 oil a torque of just 1 foot pound, as the battery is not able to supply the amount of power, the only result to be expected is starting failure.

Crises of the official record books are available at Imperial Oil dealers to motorists who enter the road test. $4,000 in prizes are offered for the best-kept record books.

Pioneers Mark 60th Wedding Anniversary

Sixty years ago—fifty years ago to the anniversary of their marriage—Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Devereaux, who were married at Bruce Mines, and who made their first real home on a homestead east of Edmonton in what is now Clover Bar, and who have enjoyed that home with fondness and courtesy and with courage, the years have been fruitful indeed, and the west very rich.

And from the time of the address of the late Mr. Devereaux, the O'Connell home has been a center of his hospitality and cheer throughout the years.

MANY CONGRATULATIONS
Marked this week has been their sixtieth anniversary of their wedding—the fifty-third year of their life in Clover Bar, and Mr. and Mrs. Devereaux during the week have been receiving many congratulations and good wishes from the Northern Alberta Pioneer of which they are active members from their many close friends in Clover Bar and from their children and grandchildren who all reside in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Devereaux have nine children, six boys and three girls. Their sons are W. J. A. J. Devereaux, George S. Devereaux, and J. J. Devereaux, and their daughters are Mrs. B. B. Smith, Mrs. J. J. Devereaux, and Mrs. J. J. Devereaux.

Mr. Devereaux is a graduate of the University of Alberta and Mr. Alfred O'Connell, of Brandon. Three other brothers, George, David and Samuel, were in Ontario.

There are 14 grandchildren and 14 great grandchildren.

Couple Mark Sixty Years Of Marriage

"When you and I were young," is a matter of 60 years ago for both Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Devereaux. Mr. Devereaux is now 77, but his mind is as sharp as ever for thought and action. He is the son of a pioneer, and he has lived through the founding of the home to which Mr. Devereaux came with his two children in 1884—now vivid in Mr. Devereaux's mind and thankful for the fact that it is a home.

Daintiest of Blouses Are Effective As Tops For Severely Tailored Suits

Sheer Models in Lace, Organdie, Embroidered or Edged With Color, Are Practical, Washable

At first glance there may seem to be a discrepancy between a tailored suit and a sheer, lace blouse. But if there are many such discrepancies in the season's mode, and they are quite delightful as for now.

You can, of course, choose a tailored blouse in any of the latest used-texture or plain, fairly solid in print or color, but the tendency is for fluff effects. And for the sheer blouse nothing is much better than such a fabric as organdie. It is cool and fresh all through the summer months as well as for now.

At the left is a thoughtfully tailored blouse with a sheer, lace organdie with a tiny embroidered dot. It has a high round neck, four pockets, bow down the front. Red embroidery edges the collar, bow and interesting lace treatment.

A clear organdie with a collar, permanent finish is delicately embroidered and appliqued with lace in the older washable dainty model. It has a frilly jab and pin-tucked details at the neck and at the band edges of the short puff sleeves.

Bowlen News Millet Highway Costs Statement

Demand for a return asked for in connection with highway construction costs between this city and Millet, approved by the house in the early stages of the present session, was renewed in the legislature on Tuesday by John J. Bowlen, Liberal House leader.

I Saw Today

The adjourned session of the 1937 Legislature has been adjourned again—this time to Monday, June 14, to allow Mr. G. F. Powell of the Douglas constituency to return and advise the Government what to do next to get Social Credit.

Then, the adjourned session, according to the adjourned House without proper explanation when there is business waiting to be finished, protested D. M. Duggan, the Conservative leader, there are five bills on the order paper for second reading and eight bills for first reading. Why don't they get on with the bills on the order paper in a few minutes then?

So without further protest the House agreed to adjourn till Monday next.

It was after midnight when the House gathered yesterday. The small-est assembly yet seen in the legislature. Many members had left themselves from prayers. The two members who did not leave themselves from praying, only the Opposition was left. The Opposition had a full attendance, save for the two members who had left themselves from prayers. The Opposition was left. The Opposition had a full attendance, save for the two members who had left themselves from prayers.

The silence which followed was broken by Mr. Duggan, who asked, "Does the Minister wish to say anything to the responsibility for the delay in the road?"

ADJOURNMENT IS PROTESTED BY DUGGAN

Conservative Leader Asks If There Are Undisclosed Reasons

Over the protest of D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, the legislature, at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, adjourned until Monday, June 14. Mr. Abertth moved his motion. Mr. Duggan rose. "Unless there are reasons, as yet undisclosed, I hope that the government, we should get down to business," he said.

He declared that with the amount of work it seemed that the House could well employ the day rather than adjourn. There were five bills awaiting second reading and eight bills awaiting first reading.

The letter stated that the government was not in a position to make any definite and binding promise of not firing them, but that they should apply to the ministers concerned for their own protection.

Dismissed Veterans Advised To Apply To Ministers Concerned

Who's Who

War veterans who have been discharged from the civil service by the Alberta government and are willing to resume their service will be advised to make personal applications to the ministers involved. It was indicated in a letter from Premier A. G. Macleod, dated Wednesday by W. R. McLaughlin and H. A. Dine on behalf of the government, that the veterans should apply to the ministers concerned. The letter stated that the government was not in a position to make any definite and binding promise of not firing them, but that they should apply to the ministers concerned for their own protection.
